

Kennedy Big Winner in Massachusetts

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY

BOSTON (AP)—It's another Kennedy-Lodge election battle for Massachusetts—the fourth round in a long line of bouts for high political office.

The Democrats nominated Edward M. Kennedy, youngest brother of President John F. Kennedy, for the U.S. Senate by a landslide in Tuesday's primary.

The Republicans picked George Cabot Lodge, son of Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.N. ambassador who once held the Senate seat at stake in November.

The nominees are both young men. Kennedy turned 30, minimum age for a senator, last Feb. 22. Lodge is 35.

Though both have been campaigning on a day and night schedule since their victories in the party conventions last June, they planned an early start today in the election contest.

Kennedy ran better than 2-1 in the voting across the state over his rival, State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass.

Lodge was in a closer battle for the GOP nomination with Rep. Laurence Curtis. The lead seemed back and forth.

Shortly before 2:30 a.m. Lodge made his victory speech at his election headquarters.

Curtis' concession came later, with a congratulatory message and a promise of support in the election campaign.

Returns from 121 precincts of the state's 1988 gave Kennedy 433,023 and McCormack 190,614.

On the Republican side, the tally of 11 precincts gave Lodge 186,557 and Curtis 148,793.

The Democrats nominated a Yankee blue blood, Endicott (Chub) Peabody to head their state ticket as the candidate for governor. Peabody defeated Clement A. Riley, state auto registrar.

Peabody will run against incumbent Republican Gov. John A. Volpe, a son of Italian immigrant for a second term without opposition.

The Republicans placed a Negro on their ticket, nominating Edward W. Brooke for attorney general. Brooke was also the first Negro on a statewide ticket in Massachusetts two years ago when he ran unsuccessfully for secretary of state.

Will Battle Overloaded School Buses

BERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Berryville Parent-Teacher Association unit has voted to begin proceedings to secure legislation to make it unlawful to overload a school bus in Arkansas.

A group of school patrons in Berryville have been trying for about three years to get relief from what they term overcrowding of buses. At the beginning of this school year, the PTA unit said, as many as 89 students were transported on one bus.

The Berryville School District considered the 20 seat bus a 60-passenger vehicle.

One of the PTA's declared objects is to secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youths. The Berryville unit appointed a committee to seek the legislation.

The committee is composed of Mrs. Earl Searrow, Carroll County Judge Arthur Carter and Ernie Howard, manager of Radio Station KTCN in Berryville.

The committee said it has contacted Carroll County Rep. Pat Teague and that Teague has promised to introduce legislation in the next session of the state legislature against overcrowding of buses.

The committee is also asking for strict enforcement of such laws.

Rain Again Interrupts Farm Work

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Showers again interrupted the Arkansas cotton harvest last week and the crop needs drying weather, the Department of Agriculture Statistical Reporting Service said today.

There are numerous reports of boll rot and seeds sprouting in rank and irrigated cotton, the service said, but damage so far has not been excessive.

The showers improved prospects in late fields, but lowered the quality of open cotton and induced second growth in some fields.

Few machines have been used so far in the harvest, but defoliation for machine harvest is well underway, the service said.

Harvest of early rice is getting underway with good yields reported. Many fields are being drained for the harvest and warm weather during the week was favorable for maturing rice.

Soybeans continued to make a good recovery and the outlook improved further during the week. Some damage from recent wet weather occurred in low spots.

Early beans are maturing and a few fields have been harvested. Combining will start in a number of counties this week. Late varieties are fruiting heavily and could make good yields if fall is late.

Insect damage was reported from several counties.

Democrats Organize for Campaign

At a breakfast meeting here this week Democrats organized to wage a Democratic campaign in Hempstead County for the nominees of the party in Arkansas whose names will be on the ballot in the November election for various state and local offices.

Electors were the following: Vincent W. Foster, chairman; Ray Turner and Tom Hays, co-chairmen; and the following as chairman and co-chairmen of divisions: Albert Graves Jr., young democrats; John Wilson and George W. Peck, business and professional; Jim Cele and Carter Sutton, senior citizens; Dick Turnage, women; Tom Hays and Royce Weisenberger, schools; Talbot Field Jr. and Harry Hawthorne, rural; Judge Orie O. Byers, federal, state, county and city employees; Jimmie Griffin and Ray Turner, all other groups.

Tom Hays was named treasurer and the advisory board includes: W. S. Atkins, Talbot Field Jr., Judge Lyle Brown, James H. Pilkinton, Royce Weisenberger and John L. Wilson.

Another meeting will be held soon and chairmen will announce their plans for the campaign. All speakers urged citizens to obtain a poll tax before Oct. 1 as this tax is necessary to qualify to vote in the November election.

Autopsy Turns Up Nothing

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A report was made to State Police Tuesday that an autopsy conducted on the body of Roy Hubbard, 48, of near Clarksville, revealed no bullet wounds or fractures.

Hubbard had been missing from his home since April 12 and was found last Friday in a 35-foot well one-half mile north of Altus.

The body was found by relatives who had been searching for Hubbard.

A coroner's inquest will be held to determine the cause of death. A date for the inquest has not been set.

State, County Officials Ask More Pay

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Three warring Arkansas leaders and about 225 county and state officials agreed on one thing Tuesday: If you want more competence in public offices, pay higher salaries.

The three leaders were Gov. Orval E. Faubus, Winthrop Rockefeller and Forrest Rozzell. Faubus, Democratic nominee for governor, has attacked Rockefeller, Republican committeeman for the state. Rozzell, head of the Arkansas Education Association, and Faubus were at odds during the primary election and now differ on AEA backed proposed constitutional changes.

The 225 others were mostly delegates to meetings of sheriffs, treasurers, clerks, assessor, collector and county judges association.

Faubus, Rozzell and Rockefeller were on a panel discussion on Amendment 52, up for voter decision on the November general election.

The amendment would raise constitutional ceilings on salary levels, set in 1874.

Faubus struck the theme of the support for the amendment, saying the state could not expect its passage to result in better public servants overnight.

"But in the long run," he said, "you get the kind of competence you pay for."

Rockefeller said it was important in attracting industries to have the "best qualified people" as state servants. He is chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

Rozzell said the AEA has endorsed the amendment. Only two other states pay as low salaries to their governor as Arkansas, he said. If the amendment is passed, there will still be 2 states paying higher gubernatorial wages, he added.

Louis Ramsey, of Pine Bluff, vice president of the Arkansas Bar Association, said the amendment would be permissive and that the legislature still would have to provide the money. He was among the panelists.

During the association meetings, Cross County Clerk Berlon Davis said when the tax assessor in his county died two young men wanted the job. But both made more money, he said, where they were employed and couldn't afford to seek the office.

Deshia County Sheriff Robert Moore said he knew of three sheriffs who obtained private jobs paying higher salaries.

Arkansas County Judge John L. Peterson of DeWitt said county officials need to be paid a salary "commensurate with the job they do."

"The taxpayer is going to get more government for his money if he pays a higher salary that will attract the interest of the kind of people he wants in office," he added.

County GOPs Oppose Local Option Election

Today the Hempstead County Republican Party announced its opposition to the establishment of a liquor store in Bois d'Arc township. County Chairman T. O. Porter, women's chairman Margaret Harris, and campaign chairman Haskell Jones pledged the party's efforts toward the defeat of the issue. They will send workers into the township to work with those in the area who oppose it.

A petition was filed Sept. 5 by Leo Robins calling for a local option liquor election in the township. The petition was certified on Sept. 14 to the General Election Commissioners and the issue will be on the November ballot.

If approved the measure would legalize liquor sales in Bois d'Arc township which includes Fulton and McNab but not elsewhere in the county. Hope and Hempstead have been legally dry since 1946.

Satellite Sending Back Pictures

By HOWARD BENEDICT CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The sixth U.S. Tiro satellite zipped around the globe today, snapping pictures of weather systems in a tuneup for its main assignment: hurricane hunting.

The latest in the successful series of Tiro meteorological satellites was fired into orbit from Cape Canaveral early Tuesday and within hours it was transmitting clear pictures of cloud cover above many areas of the world.

Several hours later the Air Force successfully launched a Minuteman missile from an underground silo on a 3,000-mile flight and moved the solid-fuel intercontinental range rocket near its operational goal of next month.

Project officials termed the Tiro pictures — many of which showed clearly defined land masses, rivers and seas — among the best received during the Tiro program.

Flying half an hour in front of Tiro was Tiro 5, launched last June. With both operating, meteorologists for the first time had two working weather satellites aloft simultaneously. Four earlier Tiro vehicles have quit functioning.

Tiro was launched two months earlier than planned to help Tiro 5 patrol the Atlantic and Caribbean hurricane belts during what is normally the most active period—late September and early October.

Arkansan Attacked in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 23-year-old secretary on the staff of Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., suffered a broken nose, two cracked teeth and bruises Tuesday night when she was attacked by a man in southeast Washington, police reported.

Police identified the victim as Martha Sue Huitt. She was admitted to Casualty Hospital.

Inspector William T. Murphy said Miss Huitt was walking on First Street when a man came up behind her, put his arm around her neck and told her to be quiet.

When he eased the pressure on her throat, Miss Huitt screamed. The man punched her in the face and fled.

Miss Huitt, a native of Little Rock, Ark., has been working for Mills since May, 1961.

Fair Site Is Being Prepared for Stock Show

Plans for the 18th annual Third District Livestock show are slowly but surely taking shape. With the opening of the annual Nevada County Fair yesterday, many float entries in the grand parade have signed to enter in the local parade set for 4 p. m. Monday, Sept. 24.

Prize money totals $300 and Chairman Ben Owen urges local groups to enter in the competition. The judging is divisional, so every type of entry will have a chance to win.

Meanwhile the exhibit halls at the park are being readied and stock barns will begin receiving livestock within the next two days.

The program calls for free shows in the coliseum the first three nights and rodeo will start Thursday night.

Predicts End Soon to Rail Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP)—Acting Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz predicts an end soon to the three-week strike of telegraphers against the Chicago & North Western Railway.

Both sides, he said Tuesday, seem to be near an understanding on the issues to be submitted to arbitration. When that is done the strike will be over.

President George Leighty of the striking AFL-CIO Order of Railroad Telegraphers hinted it might take weeks to agree on issues to be submitted to arbitration.

The C&NW board chairman, Ben W. Heinemann, indicated that the range of arbitration could be agreed on quickly.

Wirtz said nothing developed at his meeting with the railroad and union to indicate any difficulty in determining which issues could be settled outright and which should go to arbitration.

The dispute, dragging on for five years, involves the railroad's demand for a free hand in making manpower economies and the union's demand to limit such layoffs or make them subject to negotiation.

The railroad's shutdown has hit the economy of a large section of the Midwest where tons of corn and sugar beets and other crops are ready for movement to market.

Wirtz conferred with Leighty and other union officials again today but a Labor Department spokesman said it was not expected there would be any announcement of an agreement on issues for arbitration before late today or Thursday at the earliest.

Rubber Firm Starts Hiring

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Chase-Grocer Rubber Co., has begun hiring the first 50 persons for its plant.

About 100 truckloads of machinery have been moved to the plant, which is expected to begin production in the near future.

Additional employees will be added as each new production line is set up, bringing the total to about 200 in January and 300 later in 1963.

U.S. Use of Troops Against Aggression by Cuba Is Assured

Senate Almost Sure to Pass Trade Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed today President Kennedy's trade expansion bill—the most revolutionary measure in this field since the 1934 reciprocal trade agreements law.

The strong vote for the bill gave the President a smashing victory on the legislation which he had placed at the top of his list in the 87th Congress.

Administration forces, after a shaky start, beat down every significant amendment.

The measure now goes to conference with the House which passed it June 28. It has agreed to practically all the minor changes made in the Senate.

Kennedy offered the bill as a measure to open big new markets to U.S. industry and provide hundreds of thousands of additional jobs, to enable this country to work out effective economic arrangements with the European Common Market, and to increase its export surplus and end the serious balance of payments deficit.

The provisions aimed at broad new trade arrangements with the Common Market are regarded by the administration as the heart of the bill.

This West European area, with its rapidly rising standard of living, is envisioned as a vast new field for sales of American consumer goods.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana put off passage until afternoon because of the late hour and because several members said they wanted to speak before the final roll call.

Tuesday's votes—preserving all of the sweeping tariff-cutting and trade adjustment powers Kennedy requested—apparently assured the President of one of the biggest triumphs of the 87th Congress.

In proposing his trade program as "a bold new instrument of American trade policy," Kennedy said: "Our decision could well affect the unity of the West, the course of the cold war and the growth of our nation for a generation or more to come."

After accomplishing nothing in the first day of debate Monday, the Senate got down to business so earnestly Tuesday that it was able to act on 19 amendments. But it took the longest session the year to do it, running 14 hours and 20 minutes.

Several major efforts to water down the bill were included in the defeated amendments, but none of the proposals touched the major powers in the bill.

These include authority to cut all present tariffs 50 per cent and a completely new power to eliminate duties entirely on products for which the United States and the European Common Market account for 80 per cent of world trade.

Argentina in Political Tug-of-War

By ROMAN JIMENEZ

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentine army commanders waged a fierce new tug-of-war today with a rebel faction demanding President Jose Maria Guido's government be freed from military dictation.

Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, commander of the big Camp de Mayo garrison just outside Buenos Aires, declared in sparking the revolt that Guido must face up to the issue of "democracy or dictatorship."

Ongania charged Guido was "surrounded by army cliques" bent on establishing a military dictatorship.

War Secretary Gen. Jose Cornejo Saravia, whose appointment was to appease another group of rebels, was the chief target of the career army officers because of his recent shakeup of commands.

Troops under Gen. Ongania also are demanding the resignation of Gen. Juan Lario as commander in chief, and his chief of staff, Gen. Bernardino Labayru.

Argentine newsmen said they say tanks move out of the base of the 1st Armored Regiment and head for La Plata, only 35 miles southeast of Buenos Aires, in an apparent show of support for the Campo de Mayo garrison outside the capital.

But the war secretariat denied there had been any troop movements anywhere. The secretariat said only "exploratory vehicles" had left the armored camp. It gave no details.

Earlier the army command asserted the rebellion had been put down. There was no evidence of this.

Lost Hunter Found Safe

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—A squirrel hunter who lost his way in the woods near Conway Tuesday found his way back to his car late in the day after State Police conducted an air search of the area.

Officers said William Tension Jr., 23, of Little Rock, left his home at 3:30 Monday to go hunting and when he had not returned Tuesday, his wife and father asked for a search.

Tension, who works in a Little Rock auto parts store, said he became lost in woods between Conway and Morrilton and wandered for a day before finding his way back to his car on U.S. Highway 5.

Conway Policeman Ronnie Taylor spotted him driving his car back down the highway toward Little Rock.

State Police flew over the heavily wooded area Tuesday in a vain search of Taylor.

Jones Talks at DeQueen Barbecue

DEQUEEN, Ark. (AP)—Dr. Kenneth Jones, Republican opponent of Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., spent the day meeting with women supporters here Tuesday, then spoke at a barbecue on the Cossatot River at night.

About 30 women met in two homes with Jones and sipped coffee while chatting with the candidate.

At the barbecue Jones charged that America has lost its Supreme Court and executive branch and has recourse now only to Congress.

He scored what he termed Fulbright's liberal voting record and said if he is elected he will favor a human depreciation income tax law to offset loss of earning power.

Fulbright spent the day in his Little Rock campaign headquarters.

Resolution Is Warning to Russia, Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committee unanimously approved today a resolution declaring the United States will use troops if necessary to resist Communist aggression in this hemisphere.

The joint resolution, which both Senate and House are expected to approve Thursday, would require the signature of President Kennedy and reflect unanimity between the White House and Congress in the determination by the United States.

"To prevent by whatever means may be necessary, including the use of arms, the Marxist-Leninist regime in Cuba from extending by force or threat of force its aggressive or subversive activities to any part of this hemisphere."

It also would put the President and Congress on record in asserting determination:

1. "To prevent in Cuba the creation or use of an externally supported military capability endangering the security of the United States."
2. "To work with the Organization of American States and with freedom-loving Cubans to support the aspirations of the Cuban people for self-determination."

Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, John Sparkman, D-Ala., acting chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., ranking GOP member of the former group, developed the proposed language Tuesday in conferences with the House committee and the White House.

The resolution also would voice U.S. determination:

"To prevent in Cuba the creation or use of an externally supported offensive military base capable of endangering the United States naval base at Guantanamo, free passage to the Panama Canal, United States missile and space preparations or the security of this nation and its citizens."

Group Opposing Amendment 50

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A group opposing proposed constitutional amendment 50 is distributing misleading information in an effort to turn voters against the proposal. Little Rock City Manager Ansel Douthett said Tuesday. Douthett said the Arkansas Taxpayers Protective League was confusing the issue by distributing in Little Rock a mimeographed statement designed to lure businessmen away from the amendment. Amendment 50 would allow cities to set their own tax rates.

Mantle Slams Pair, Yanks Get Closer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They're getting down to champagne drinking time in the American League. And the New York Yankees, who've popped a few corks in their day, may have administered the knockout blow to their closest pursuers by slipping them a Mickey.

The Mickey would be Mickey Mantle, the slugging, but still-bubbled center fielder of the defending world champions, who tagged Tom Cheney for two homers and drove in five runs as the Yankees whipped Washington 7-1 Tuesday night.

The victory for the Yankees, trying to nail down their 12th flag in 14 years, reduced their magic pennant-climbing number to six over second-place Minnesota.

The Twins last ground by losing to Detroit 2-1 as Jim Bunning allowed only five hits in eight innings, stranding 11 base runners and turning back Minnesota four times with the tying run as far as second base.

The third-place Los Angeles Angels continued to stagger, losing their sixth straight, 5-2 to Baltimore, and falling 7½ games back with 10 games remaining. The Yankees and Twins each have nine games to play.

Boston ruined Early Wynn's bid to get his 300th victory, belting him for 12 hits and eight runs in five innings en route to a 10-5 triumph over the Chicago White Sox. Kansas City won its sixth straight 6-1 over Cleveland.

In the National League, Milwaukee trimmed Los Angeles' first-place edge over idle San Francisco to 3½ games by walloping the Dodgers 10-5, third-place Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh 7-4 in 10 innings; the Chicago Cubs edged St. Louis 4-3; and Houston beat the New York Mets twice, 2-1 and 8-6.

The Orioles got the job done with three runs in the fourth inning after an error by Angels' starter Bo Belinsky (9-11) opened the door. Brooks Robinson followed with a double and Dick Williams was hit by a pitch, leading the bases. John Powell drove in two runs with a single, and one out later Marv Breeding knocked in what turned out to be the game winner with a single.

Chuck Estrada (9-15) won it with ninth-inning relief help from Dick Hall and Billy Hoelt.

Winning pitcher Don Schwall (9-15) drove in three runs, as did Gary Geiger, and Frank Malzone chipped in with a two-run homer as the Red Sox pounded Wynn (7-13) and the White Sox.

The A's broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth on doubles by Ed Charles and Wayne Causey before breaking it open with four runs in the eighth. Causey and Gino Cimoli each stroked three hits in support of Dan Pfister (4-13). Jim Perry (11-12) lost it.

Texarkana Going Ahead With Plan

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—Miller and Bowie counties will go ahead with their Sabin oral polio vaccine program, but they won't use the type III vaccine.

Doctors from the two counties, one in Texas and one in Arkansas, met Monday night and affirmed a previous decision to carry on with the program, although Arkansas has postponed its statewide vaccination plan.

A spokesman said type III would not be used until and unless it gets approval of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Miller and Bowie residents will take type I Sept. 24 and type II one month later.

The Arkansas program was postponed, probably until January or February, after reports from Canada that at least 4 persons who took Sabin vaccine there contracted polio.

Opponents of No. 50 to Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Opponents of proposed Constitutional Amendment 50 will hold an organizational meeting in Little Rock this week.

J. Fred Livingston Jr., a Batesville attorney who is spearheading the opposition, announced the meeting. He did not set a definite time or place.

Livingston said Monday it was his own idea to organize opposition but he was encouraged by support that had been pledged.

Proponents of the measure, which would grant cities new taxing privileges, have formed a committee headed by Fred Pickens of Newport.

Morgenthau Selected in New York

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—New York Democrats, long racked by internal feuds, chose Robert M. Morgenthau at a chaotic state convention early today as their gubernatorial nominee.

Morgenthau, former U.S. attorney in New York City and the soft-spoken son of a famous Democrat, was nominated unanimously over four rivals on the second ballot to oppose Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the November election.

Veteran Democrats called the strife-torn convention session one of the most unruly in the party's history. It threatened to aggravate wounds still unhealed after the party's divisive convention four years ago.

Despite the support of the most powerful Democratic leaders in the state, Morgenthau, a newcomer to politics, fell seven votes short of winning the nomination on the first ballot.

A shouting, brawling tumult followed during which his backers sought to start an immediate second call of the roll while his opponents for the nomination tried in vain to recess the convention until later today.

His nomination was made unanimous on the second ballot when it became clear he had picked up more than enough strength to win.

Morgenthau's closest rival, Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor, received 375 first-ballot votes.

Morgenthau, 43, son of Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, had the support of Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, former Gov. Herbert Lehman and Rep. Charles A. Buckley, veteran Bronx leader.

He reportedly had the backing also of the Kennedy administration, but publicly Washington Democrats kept hands off the bitter state struggle.

Republicans, whose state convention opened in quiet harmony in Buffalo today, quickly capitalized on the Democrats' strife.

Walter J. Mahoney, Republican leader of the state Senate, charged in his prepared keynote address that delegates to the Democratic convention had been "black-jacked" into choosing Morgenthau by alleged party bosses.

The Republicans will renominate Rockefeller, U.S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits and other members of the Rockefeller team.

Fisherman to Be Buried

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—Vernon Webster, 79, of Newark, whose body was recovered from the White River near Oliphant Sunday, will be buried today near Newark.

Coroner Otis Dillinger ruled Webster, who had not been seen since last Wednesday or Thursday, was a drowning victim.

Dillinger said he lived alone and no one had reported him missing. The body was found by Willard Johnson, a fisherman, of near Oliphant.

Conway Man Is Named to Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The re-election of Hays Gibson of Conway to the state Teacher Retirement System's Board of Trustees was certified Tuesday.

Hoyt R. Pyle, director of the system, said about 3,700 ballots had been mailed to members of the system in the Second Congressional District, but only 120 were returned.

All but one of the ballots returned were for Gibson. The exception was a write-in vote.

Pyle estimated the cost of the election at about $300. In previous elections the system printed the ballot in the Arkansas Journal of Education, an Arkansas Education Association publication.

Last year the legislature directed the system to send ballots to each member of the system to encourage a bigger vote. Pyle said this week's vote was the smallest he had ever seen.

Are Parents Too Easy-Going?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I baby-sit to eke out my husband's low wage. This gives me a chance to see how other parents handle children. Now I'm wondering if I've raised my own the right way.

Last night my husband greeted me with the news that our 17-year-old son had got a neighbor's girl, aged 14½, into trouble.

My son has been in hot water of other kinds and we have always stood right with him. But he never wants to listen to our advice. Both my husband and I have tried to teach him respect for me but he never shows any. I argue that he should do more for himself around the house: fix his meals, press his clothes, keep his room clean. He thinks he should be able to do as he pleases. Now he has and the result is our biggest problem yet. Just what am I to say or do? I have another son aged 11. —Downcast Mother

Dear Downcast: It is not enough for parents to stand by their children in time of trouble. They must stand by at other times too, whether the children like it or not.

You failed your son by depriving him of the basic, every day discipline necessary to form his character. You say you tried to teach him respect; you couldn't have tried hard enough. You gave in too easily to his whims. I don't say that a 17-year-old boy should fix his own meals, but you should certainly have insisted that he keep his own room and clothes in good order. And, by the way, why didn't he, rather than you, take on an outside job? Children much younger than he earn money and it might have taught him to deal with people who aren't going to cater to him as you did.

New, of course, he needs your compassion and help. But see to it that he sits in on all discussions you have with your neighbors as to the future of the girl and the baby. Make it plain that he will have to bear the emotional and some of the financial burden of impending fatherhood.

Promise to help in every way you can; but don't encourage him to dump the whole thing in your lap. A boy old enough to pretend to be adult is old enough to partake of its problems. It is still not too late to apply the discipline you neglected to enforce in earlier years, and your boy will be better off for it. So will his younger brother.

Dear Helen: For five months I have been going out with a man of 31. I'm 17. We love and respect each other. He has taken me to meet his family and friends. We plan to marry when I'm 19.

My parents object to my seeing him any more because he is divorced and until now did not think I would seriously consider marrying him. He has explained to me why his marriage did not work out, admitted his past mistake, and says that what he does in the future is what counts.

I think I'm mature enough to know love when I meet it. Should I continue to see him or wait until I'm 18 in the hope that my parents will learn to accept him? —Confused

Dear Confused: Before you decide to go along with or defy your parents' request that you break off with your boy friend, there is an intermediate step you can take. Ask him to tell your parents, as he has already told you, the story of his unhappy first marriage. They are older and more experienced than you and will be able to question him about it more maturely.

If his story stands up, they will be less inclined to oppose him as a suitor. But if he appears unwilling to give your parents the full facts, or if their questioning brings out a different version from the one he gave you, he is not a trustworthy lifetime mate for you.

Dear Helen: I was born lame, but all my life I've striven to do as well or better than other people. I am now 55 years young, happily married, have six grown children, and every day is an adventure for me. I have many interesting hobbies, and enjoy working in our small garden. But I never cease to be amazed at the cruelty and prejudice of people regarding their fellow man's afflictions. The things adults, even children, will say to a cripple; such as "Dearie, turn away from your sins and be healed," (this was said to a child) or, after staring for half a block, "It's terrible to see a drunkard, especially a woman."

There is too much discrimination in this world. I can fully understand the feelings of the so-called minority races, for we cripples are treated the same way. —Disgusted

Dear Disgusted: You are absolutely right. The attitude you describe is not only disgusting but shocking and contemptible. I'm glad you wrote. Your fighting spirit will give a lift to others who are handicapped and bring shame to those who sneer or sneaker at someone else's affliction.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "A Child's Grace."

Votes Bond Issue

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—Jackson County residents voted today on a $154,000 bond issue proposal to finance improvements at the site of the former Newport Air Base, now the city's industrial park.

President's Sister is Retarded

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy's sister, Rosemary, 43, retarded from childhood, was placed 20 years ago in a Catholic institution specializing in the care of such cases, and is still there, her sister has disclosed.

Eunice Kennedy Shriver, wife of Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, wrote in the Saturday Evening Post's Sept. 22 issue about the heartbreak her family suffered with her retarded older sister.

In 1941, the article said, the family returned to the United States from London, where Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's father, had served as American ambassador. At that time, it said, Rosemary Kennedy was not making progress but seemed instead to be going backward.

The author explained: "At 22 she was becoming increasingly irritable and difficult. She became somber and talked less. Her memory and concentration and her judgment were declining. "My mother" took Rosemary to psychologists and to dozens of doctors. All of them said her condition would not get better and that she would be happier in an institution, where competition was far less and where our numerous activities would not endanger her health. "My mother" found an excellent Catholic institution that specializes in the care of retarded children and adults. Rosemary is there now, living with others of her capacity."

Must Decide Method

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — Mayor Howell B. Price said Monday he would not set a date on a $1.3 million bond issue proposal until the city council decides whether to issue revenue or tax bonds. The money will be used to construct a factory building for Burch Flow Works.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Has American skipper Bus Mosbacher met his match in Australian old lumber company executive Jock Sturrock?

Australian challenger, Gretel, Tuesday over the American defender Weatherly which knotted the America's Cup series at one race each.

While the Aussies were celebrating American tacticians reviewed the race with a fine-tooth comb and came up with the conclusion that Sturrock, a 4-year-old lumber company executive from Melbourne, is a whale of a match racer. He outmaneuvered the 41-year-old Mosbacher from had to cross the extreme leeward end of the line, with Sturrock blanketing him from a favorable

Coach Warns Oklahomans Are Tough

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—

University of Arkansas football coach Frank Broyles warned his Razorbacks Tuesday that Oklahoma State University will be no pushover.

Broyles said "OSU is in the Big Eight Conference, a major football conference, and they play big college football."

The Saturday night game in Little Rock is the season opener for both teams.

Broyles said OSU coaches "believe they have the best chance in years to beat us."

He recalled for the Hogs, "On HONOLULU Hurricane Kid, one day three Big Eight teams: 133, San Francisco, knocked out whipped three Southwest Conference Johnson, 149, San Francisco, one team."

That was in 1960 when Kansas topped Texas Christian University, Nebraska whipped Texas and Missouri halted Southern Methodist University.

The Porkers squeaked by OSU 9-0 that day. Texas TCU and Arkansas were defending tri-championships then.

In a scouting report Tuesday, assistant coach Wilson Matthews commented on backfield speed and the possibility the Cowboys may run a pro-type offense.

Matthews said the Cowboys usually run a 5-4-2 defense, but sometimes switch to a 4-5-2. They usually run a gap defense on the goal line and will stunt a good deal.

Broyles ran the Hogs through offensive and defensive checks Tuesday and said the remainder of the week will be devoted to checking play assignments and polishing offense and defense.

The Porkers will be without the services of end Jim John of Stuttgart in the opening game. John broke a blood vessel in his nose

Killed in Wreck

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—Doyle White, 53, of Pocahontas was killed Monday when his automobile and one driven by Carroll Huskey, 16 of Tuckerman collided on Highway 667 two miles south of nearby Swifton. Huskey's sister-in-law, Mrs. Lavon Huskey, suffered a serious shoulder injury and was hospitalized at Jonesboro. Huskey and his brother were not seriously hurt.

Faubus to Speak

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus will speak at a Sept. 25 meeting of the Fort Smith Business and Professional Women's Club.

Broyles said quarterback Billy Moore looked better in the Tuesday workout. Moore donned pads Monday for the first time since Sept. 10 practice opened. Broyles said then he "needed a lot more work."

Russians Like Methods of Capitalists

EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is the second of two articles describing the Soviet banking system.

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — American bankers report that the citizens of the Soviet Union are taking to the banks long associated with the capitalist system.

They can build up capital for themselves, and for the state through its banking system, by setting up individual banking accounts, both of the deposit and savings variety. And they can indulge in that status symbol of the affluent society—installment debt.

True, interest paid on bank accounts doesn't match some of the fancy figures offered by various competing savings institutions in the United States. And buying on time, a come-lately to the Soviet Union, has limitations that would appall the average American family.

The Communist version of both the savings and installment programs were explained to 18 visiting American bankers at the International Banking School in Moscow.

The state sets all the rules, determines the interest rates, and the requirements for getting credit—and keeps a particularly sharp eye on the matter of repayments.

The profits of savings and installment banking, as well as of all other forms of banking in the Soviet Union, go for paying expenses. If anything is left over, it goes to the state—there are no stockholders.

Americans returning from the meeting, which brought financiers of 51 nations together, told how the Soviet version compares with the American.

State savings banks—separate from the main banking system—accept current accounts from the citizens and readily allow withdrawals. This is the closest a Soviet citizen comes to what Americans call a checking account. On such funds they get 2 per cent.

On savings accounts, without ready withdrawal, the banks pay 13 per cent.

Some 53 million Russians have started savings accounts. And the Americans were told the balance at the start of 1962 exceeded 11.7 billion rubles—close to $13 billion at the official rate.

Buying on the cuff started in the Soviet Union in 1960, well after most of the old guard Communist ideologists were gone. American bankers say the practice apparently is restricted to goods in abundant supply.

A comrade can't get a car on the monthly payment plan. For one thing, there aren't many cars to be had. For another, the repayment rules would make it next to impossible for the average Russian to buy a car that way even if it were allowed.

As the American bankers report the Soviet installment purchase system, interest rates are held to 2 per cent, but there is a minimum deposit of 25 per cent and the maximum period for repayment is 12 months.

More appalling to an American collector of big ticket items would be the rule that the total of such debt must not exceed four months' pay.

Turnips for All When Ready

AUGUSTA, Ark. (AP)—Pappy Yokum should be in Arkansas this winter.

The Dogpatch turnip fancier and comic strip hero would be in heaven in the Augusta area, for turnips will be free for the plucking, thanks to the Fitzhugh Gin Co.

Company tractors began two weeks ago plowing along roadsides and fence rows and planting purple-top turnips.

Davis Fitzhugh, company president, said when the turnips are ripe, signs will be put up saying, "Come and get 'em."

Fitzhugh said many tenant farmers in the area lacked equipment to prepare seed beds or they didn't have enough land for a winter garden.

He estimated the 25 pounds of seed which will be planted will provide turnips for 200 families.

Leap From Blast

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — A grenade concealed in a loaf of bread was thrown into a black sedan carrying four U.S. Air Force officers in Saigon today but they leaped out before it exploded.

An American military spokesman said a young Vietnamese who threw the grenade from a bicycle was captured immediately.

Home in charge

THE STORY: Several hack-

saw blades were found sewn into the boot of a cowboy thrown in jail. It is obvious that this was another attempt to free William Ivey, former cattleman's detective who has been sentenced to hang for murder.

XV

In the clear area at the end of the courthouse facing away from town, Youngblood found Elmer Cobb, the little husband of Maggie Cobb, the cock. The man was working around the wagonload of new timber the sheriff had bought. Already he had spiked together four pieces for the beginning of a square platform.

The deputy walked out to where the little man was working. "What are you doing, Mr. Cobb?"

"Well, he hired me."

"I know he hired you, but he doesn't want it done till he gives you the word."

Maggie came from the rear of the building and entered the conversation. "Mr. Cobb has gone on the wagon," she announced. "He's got to have something to do to take his mind off of bad things, so we thought . . ."

"You know how strict the sheriff is about people following orders."

"He turned to the little carpenter."

"Knock those timbers apart and get them back on the stack. And I hope you get it done before the sheriff wakes up."

As he turned to go, Maggie spoke up again. "Mr. Youngblood, I've about got Mr. Ivey's dinner ready, and I wonder if you'd mind if I took it to him. I'm sure the sheriff wouldn't mind."

"No, Maggie, we settled that for good. The sheriff would mind and does mind. You're not to go upstairs."

"Well, I don't think the sheriff would mind just once."

"No deal, Maggie," he said and turned his back to avoid further argument.

For the past few days Youngblood had been taking turns with the sheriff at sleeping. The deputy would spend up to eight hours each day sleeping, eight hours on duty with the sheriff, and eight hours handling the sheriff's duties. He had found that the sheriff would back him up in any decision he made. Andy and Slim were taking care of the patrols in town and errands outside town. Youngblood was glad that the sheriff was in the office with him when they had the visitor, Stephen Pendergrass, that afternoon.

The banker came in with more of a scowl than usual on his dignified face. "Sheriff," he announced, "there's a Mexican down town I think you better pick up and put in jail."

"Oh?" the sheriff said. "What's he doing?"

"He's been watching me and watching the bank. Someone said his name's Torres."

"Well, I don't know, Mr. Pendergrass," the sheriff said. "If he hasn't done anything, I can't hardly throw him in jail."

"I don't know what we pay all these taxes for to support the sheriff's department. If we can't get a little protection, if you can't put him in jail without a charge, you can at least run him out of town."

The suggestion that the Mexican be put in jail seemed to indicate another plot such as the one executed by Underwood, where Giles got himself in jail on purpose. But the suggestion that the Mexican be run out of town was something else again. The sheriff knew Torres was Ivey's friend, and that Pendergrass was on Ivey's side, yet the banker seemed honestly anxious to be rid of the Mexican.

"We'll keep an eye on the man, Mr. Pendergrass," the sheriff said.

"Young man," the banker said to Youngblood, "if you'll step outside, I'd like to have a short word with you."

Out in the street, the big man's face seemed to soften. He seemed to wish to be agreeable. "You were going to think over my offer of a job. What did you decide?"

"Well, I don't know Mr. Pendergrass. It sure is a hard decision. I just can't seem to make up my mind."

"You'll never get very far in this world if you can't make up your mind."

"Well, you see, I would be better off in wages if I worked for you, Mr. Pendergrass, but I just hate to quit the sheriff when he has problems and he would be short handed."

"Your duty is to yourself. The sheriff's problems are his own. If you're really a cattleman at heart, you'll want to make sure you're on the right side, and you haven't got forever to make up your mind. You've got to decide, or you may find the offer is closed. I'll pay you $55 a month, and that's as high as I'll go."

"Well, I'll be thinking about it, Mr. Pendergrass."

Youngblood reported the second bribe to his superior. Slim commented, "Youngblood, next time that banker brings that up, get me in on some of that gravy. I ain't near as hard to deal with as you are."

Blames Eisenhower

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower should have stopped trouble in Cuba when it started, "but he didn't have the guts to do it," says his Democratic predecessor, Harry S. Truman.

Truman, 78, made the comment at a news conference Monday following ceremonies marking the 175th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution.

Club Slaying Under Probe

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Officials are still investigating the shooting death of a 32-year-old Little Rock man during a fight at the Hollywood Club early Sunday.

Prosecutor John T. Jernigan said 17 witnesses were questioned Monday but he still was unable to put together a clear picture of what happened.

Billie G. McKim died of a bullet wound in the head, Robert Berryman, 24, of Little Rock was shot in the stomach, Elvie B. Freeman, 33, also of Little Rock, was severely beaten.

Berryman and Freeman remained in a hospital Monday.

The Big Nine Conference races come to an early head when Pine Bluff goes to Fort Smith Friday night.

But leading men more spice to the football club this weekend are some dandy inter-district battles, such as West Memphis at Blytheville, Hot Springs at Benton and Walnut Ridge at Newport.

This, for this season, we've maintained better than a 500 percentage, but this week smells of tragedy for the predictors.

Here's how we see 'em:

BLYTHEVILLE 21, West Memphis 14. The Chickasaws have been content with the underdog's AA.

role and has made the best of it.

(two, victories). The mask has been removed, and West Memphis knows them for what they are—a solid, if basically inexperienced team. Nevertheless, we got with the Chickasaws' Big Nine Conference savvy over Region 2AA's Blue Devils.

EL DORADO 14, Fair Park of Shreveport. Let's stick with the homefolks.

BENTON 19, Hot Springs 14. A good game between a District 3AA power and a Big Nine Conference team trying to climb out of the cellar. The Trojans of the Big Nine haven't made it yet, and Benton's Alvin Jones is rough.

PINE BLUFF 14, Fort Smith 13. A tough one to pick. They'll be at Fort Smith, and that alone may make this prediction look silly, but Pine Bluff's junior-laden squad isn't as green as people think, and Fort Smith has overwhelmed anybody in points, yet.

TEXARKANA, Tex., 24, Texarkana, Ark. 7. A cross-town rivalry with the big boys grown and groomed in Bowie County.

Now, for a swing through Class 1A.

SULFASCO 14, Fayetteville 6. The Bulldogs need a victory, but Sulaco needs one worse after two straight setbacks.

Harrison 20, Springdale 14. Harrison clobbered Fayetteville and then fell to Mountain Home. They should be up again, but it won't be easy.

ROGERS 18, Berryville 0. The Mountaineers have done worse things to Class A teams.

PARAGOULD 14, Forrest City 7. A good one to watch in Region 2AA. The Bulldogs will hit and hang on.

JACKSON 26, Stuttgart 6. The Golden Hurricane is blowing down everything in its path, and the Ricebirds don't have it this year.

NEWPORT 18, Walnut Ridge 7. A good game between northern Arkansas rivals, but a matter of Class AA power over Class A of it.

WYNNE 14, Parkin 0. Class AA over District B East.

LITTLE ROCK Catholic 21, Malvern 7. The Catholics of District 3AA have to much depth for a one-time district foe now gone to District 4AA.

CONWAY 20, Russellville 7. Bill

Hardin at end know how to run, and play defense. Russellville's Ronnie South is a half mover, but the Cyclone needs defenders.

MABELVALE 14, Bryant 6. A weak Class AA team over a Class A school with good potential.

MORRILTON 20, Sylvan Hills 0. No one is having trouble with the newest entrant to District 3AA.

SEARCY 13, Bald Knob 12. Another area rivalry that could overturn the score.

CAMDEN 21, Fordyce 7. The Panthers took a thumping from Benton last week and they'll be ready to hand one out this time. Besides, they're after the District 4AA crown again, and look pretty good.

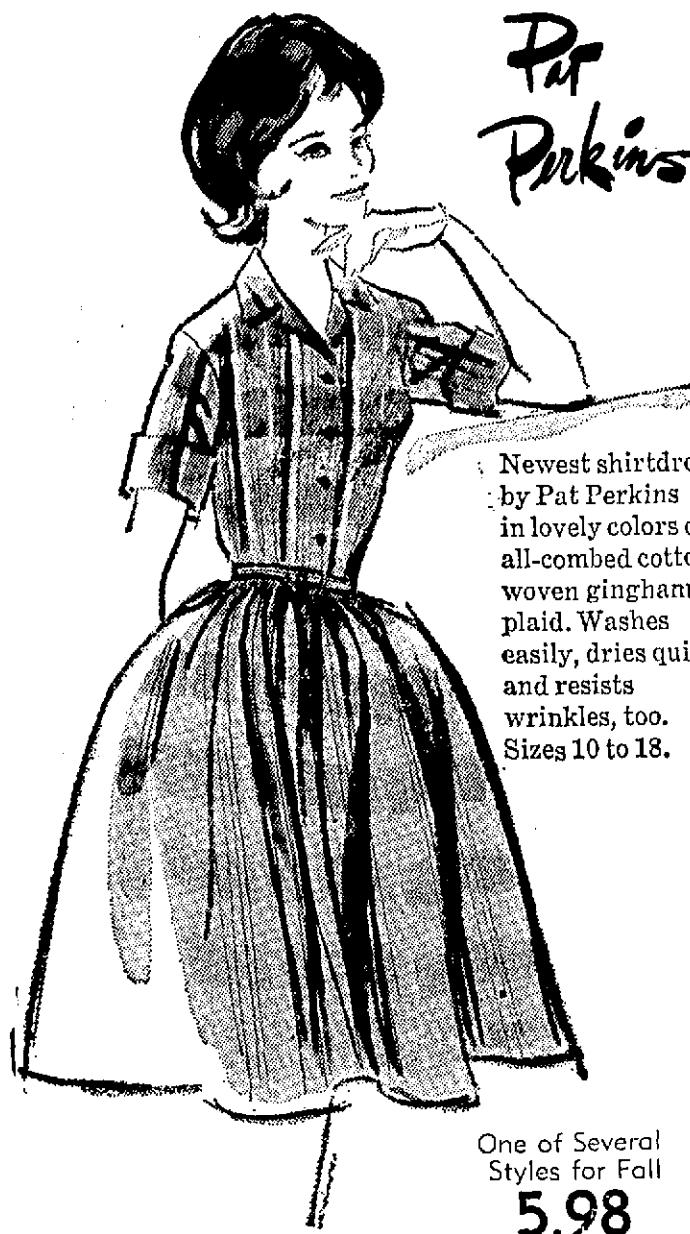

CROSSETT 21, Magnolia 0. The Eagles won't be overconfident against a weaker opponent from the same district—4AA.

HOPE 20, Smackover 14. The Bobcats hopped Texarkana, and Smackover gave El Dorado a run for its money. The Buckaroos will do the same to Hope.

Hot Springs, the nation's first national reservation, entertains fifteen times its population in guests each year.
